CALL TO ARTISTS
The Weatherspoon Art Museum
The University of North Carolina in Greensboro

The Project: The Weatherspoon Art Museum seeks artists to create a design and/or submit photos of completed work for a permanent bench, funded by museum supporter and board member, Beatrice Schall, in memory of her late husband, Stewart Schall. The bench will be placed in the Outdoor Sculpture Garden of the Museum, in keeping with its mission to present contemporary art to the community.

The Budget: The budget for this project ranges between $5,000 - $8,000 including delivery, installation of bench and insurance during installation process, and the artist’s presence at the public unveiling.

Artist Eligibility: This project is open to all professional artists who reside in the United States with experience in implementing and working in the public arena, especially benches and seating.

Application Process: The Weatherspoon Art Museum will manage the application and selection process using an Artist Selection Panel of curators and public art administrators to review applications from artists. Artists may present work already completed, images of past work, and/or concepts or designs for a new work.
